

Church and Reception

Floral decorations can add greatly to your special day and provide a ideal photographic backdrop. Entrance decorations can adorn the outside of the church. Inside arrangements may include decorations for the lectern, pulpit and pew ends or stunning pedestals and garlands for pillars. Please remember that we'll need to do discuss your ideas with the minister too.

Your choice of wedding venue will influence the style of flowers for your reception. Something special for the 'top table' with complimentary arrangements for the guests' tables all add to the romance of the day. The wedding cake may be graced with a delicate, matching flower arrangement.

Although additional arrangements like church flowers may seem expensive, everything can be designed and made to be easily removed and transported to your reception.

Bridal bouquets and flowers

A good bridal bouquet will double as your best friend, holding your hand as you walk down the aisle.

At the Secret Garden we're not limited by either tradition or the latest trends. Your bridal bouquet needs to reflect your personal style, and we will go to great lengths to ensure you have a bouquet that both enhances your appearance and boosts your confidence.

We will inspire you with innovative approaches that take into consideration not only your preferences, but also those important factors such as shape, colour, scent and weight - ensuring that you'll be carrying your ultimate floral arrangement.

Bridesmaids bouquets and flowers

A matching suite or a celebration of each bridesmaid's individuality - we're here for inspiration.

Bridesmaids' bouquets are a great way of bringing together the overall floral theme of your wedding, but you could create an equally impressive ambience by giving a unique composition to each person in your procession.

Take a keynote flower from your bridal bouquet as the starting point, and see where your imagination takes you.

Usually, the bridesmaids carry arrangements that are smaller than the bride's, but there are numerous alternatives to the traditional posy. Ask us about pomanders, cascades and flower baskets - We've created numerous inspirational and unique bridesmaids arrangements.
